RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

- A. 2017 FIPFA World Cup. Ongoing research conducted July 2-10, 2017 at the 2017 FIPFA World Cup in Kissimmee, Florida. I am currently analyzing this data and plan to produce a conference paper and journal article in the coming year.
- B. Nicholls State University Bridge Program. Ongoing research being conducted with research team on a transition program for college students with intellectual disability. We plan to produce another conference paper and journal article in the coming year.
- C. Things People Say to Disabled People. A completed general population study that is currently being analyzed and written up with a co-author.
- D. Power Soccer Photo Study. Online survey in seven languages that invites power soccer athletes to submit and comment on up to three personal power soccer photos that represent what the sport means to them.
- E. Death and Grief in Power Soccer. Because most of the athletes who play power soccer have a chronic illness, it is inevitable that athletes experience the death of teammates and friends on other teams. What impact does dealing with death on a frequent basis have on these athletes and how does the culture of power soccer offer support? This is a study that is currently being designed.
- F. Plastic Straws and People with Disability. Currently collaborating with two colleagues to examine media representation and public perception of calls to ban plastic straws and the impact such a ban would have on people with disabilities.
